

A high-quality, multi-modal resource package

“Provision of high-quality resources to support learning” and the “further use of IT and other resources to enliven lessons” have been found to be pivotal in enhancing learning in business and economic understanding

(OfSTED 2008)

As a multi-modal package, Taktix offers a high-quality board game in addition to an on-line version and on-line support and extension materials. These materials develop positive attitudes to business education by harnessing pupils’ creativity, thinking skills and curiosity.

“They liked the video links and the help buttons and links to the Business Link website, especially as they were taken right to the relevant page for their answer. Some thought this was cheating but we tell everyone that this game is about creating awareness of enterprise and anyone starting a business should take advantage of any help offered”

(Teacher Comment)

